Explore AmeriCorps Service Benefits

- Receive Education Assistance
Receive an education award to repay qualified student loans or pay current or future educational expenses of eligible institutions of higher education and training programs. Our Schools of National Service may offer additional educational benefits upon acceptance to their programs.
- Grow Professionally
AmeriCorps alumni are top-tier candidates for future employment opportunities. Employers of National Service connect alumni with employers from the private, public, and nonprofit sectors. You may also receive special consideration for employment with the federal government.
- Get Support While You Serve
AmeriCorps members may receive living allowances, housing stipends, supplemental health insurance, travel reimbursement, food assistance, developmental training, networking opportunities, and more during their service term.

Enrich your Life by Helping Others
[Grantee/sponsor selects the standard language for the program(s) in their geographic area and supplements with information about their own projects.]

AmeriCorps VISTA
Serve for a year or a summer with an organization tackling poverty to generate resources, encourage volunteer service, and empower individuals and communities. Build your resume as you coordinate administrative projects such as data management, grant writing, communications and more.

AmeriCorps State and National
Choose a service opportunity best fit for your unique interests. You can tutor and mentor students, fight climate change, improve health equity, or many other cause-related projects. AmeriCorps State and National can propel your personal development and career path while making a difference.

AmeriCorps NCCC
Americans 18-26 years old live and serve together, traveling as a team to communities across the country to address critical needs such as disaster response, public health emergencies, and more. Your travel and lodging expenses are included while you serve for 10-11 months or a summer.

Public Health AmeriCorps
Join the next generation of public health leaders and connect underserved communities to resources, provide mental health support to youth, raise awareness about various illnesses, and more. Get hands on experience and training, meet public health professionals, and develop your resume.

Additional notes

- Header bar is editable to allow for color changes. Please adhere to the approved color palette on page 16 of the brand guidelines.
- Programs are encouraged to add their logos to the header bar. Pages 26-27 of the brand guidelines show the approved co-branding set up. An alternative would be to have your logo right-aligned like the “program logo” red box.
