MEETING COMMUNITY NEEDS IN UTAH

More than 5,100 people of all ages and backgrounds are helping to meet local needs, strengthen communities, and increase civic engagement through national service in Utah. Serving at more than 900 locations throughout the state, these citizens tutor and mentor children, support veterans and military families, provide health services, restore the environment, respond to disasters, increase economic opportunity, and recruit and manage volunteers.

This year, the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) will commit more than $15,730,000 to support Utah communities through national service and social innovation initiatives. CNCS invests in cost-effective community solutions--working hand in hand with local partners to improve lives, expand economic opportunity, and engage citizens in solving problems in their communities. Serving in many of the state's most impoverished communities, CNCS provides vital support to schools, food banks, homeless shelters, community health clinics, youth centers, veterans service facilities, and other nonprofit and faith-based organizations at a time of growing demand for services. Through a unique public-private partnership, this federal investment will leverage an additional $13,390,000 in other resources to strengthen community impact, build local support, and increase return on taxpayer dollars. Nationwide, CNCS, its grantees, and project sponsors generated more than $1.25 billion in outside resources from businesses, foundations, public agencies, and other sources in FY 2015.

AmeriCorps: This year AmeriCorps will provide more than 1,800 individuals the opportunity to provide intensive, results-driven service to meet education, environmental, health, economic, and other pressing needs in communities across Utah. Most AmeriCorps grant funding goes to the UServeUtah, which in turn awards grants to nonprofit groups to respond to local needs. Most of the remainder of the grant funding is distributed by CNCS directly to multi-state and national organizations through a competitive grants process. Other individuals serve through AmeriCorps VISTA, whose members help bring individuals and communities out of poverty by serving full-time to fight hunger and illiteracy, improve health services, and increase housing opportunities, and AmeriCorps NCCC (National Civilian Community Corps), a 10-month, full time residential program for men and women between the ages of 18 and 24. In exchange for their service, AmeriCorps members earn an education award that can be used to pay for college or to pay back qualified student loans. Since 1994, more than 16,000 Utah residents have served more than 15 million hours and have qualified for Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards totaling more than $36,180,000.

Senior Corps: More than 3,200 seniors in Utah contribute their time and talents in one of three Senior Corps programs. Foster Grandparents serve one-on-one as tutors and mentors to more than 5,000 young people who have special needs. Senior Companions help more than 1,100 homebound seniors and other adults maintain independence in their own homes. RSVP volunteers conduct safety patrols, renovate homes, protect the environment, tutor and mentor youth, respond to natural disasters, and provide other services through more than 340 groups across Utah.

Social Innovation Fund: The Social Innovation Fund transforms lives and communities using limited federal investment as a catalyst to grow the impact of nonprofits with evidence of strong results. It harnesses the expertise of grantmaking intermediaries to identify, evaluate and expand effective nonprofits and engages funding partners to contribute nearly three dollars to every one federal dollar invested. As the Social Innovation Fund network grows programs that work in Utah, more people are able to overcome their most pressing challenges in the areas of economic opportunity, health, and youth development. The Social Innovation Fund is investing more than $2,790,000 in expanding the impact of 8 nonprofits in Utah, selected and supported by 3 intermediaries.

The Corporation for National and Community Service is a federal agency that improves lives, strengthens communities, and fosters civic engagement through service and volunteering. CNCS engages millions of Americans in service to meet local needs through Senior Corps, AmeriCorps, and national days of service; improves communities through the Social Innovation Fund, and leads volunteer initiatives across the nation. [2] This figure represents the maximum potential value of Segal AmeriCorps Education Awards that can be earned by AmeriCorps members serving in Utah. The award can be used in any state to pay for college, graduate school, vocational training, or to pay back student loans. The education award total is included in total CNCS funding.

[3] AmeriCorps National figures may include national programs headquartered in the state and/or operating sites of national programs that are headquartered in other states. Funding reflects the estimated proportionate share of the national grant associated with operating sites in this report. Some national organizations do not report operating site data, or it was not available at time of publishing, so figures may not reflect current conditions.

[4] Utah is served by the AmeriCorps NCCC campus located in McClellan, California.
 In the past year, AmeriCorps NCCC teams have served on projects in Moab, South Salt Lake, Salt Lake City, Brigham City, Green River, Park City, Hurricane.

[5] The service location total may contain multiple counts of unique locations where multiple CNCS programs are operating.

[6] As part of its public-private partnership approach, CNCS requires grantees to leverage additional resources to strengthen community impact and increase the return on the federal investment. This figure reflects non-CNCS cash and in-kind resources that CNCS grantees and project sponsors have committed to raise or other revenue used to support their programming activities across the state. Last year, CNCS, its grantees, and project sponsors generated more than $1.25 billion in outside resources from businesses, foundations, public agencies, and other sources.

National Service Impact in Utah

State Commission

UServeUtah, the Utah Commission on Service & Volunteerism, manages 12 AmeriCorps State programs with 1,459 AmeriCorps members serving across the state addressing critical needs in the areas of education, health, environment, economic opportunity, disaster and capacity building. In the 2014-2015 program year, more than 11,000 students were tutored and mentored with 90 percent showing improved academic performance as a result of AmeriCorps program efforts. In addition, more than 15,000 individuals received access to health care resources through service provided by AmeriCorps members. Along with AmeriCorps program outreach, oversight, training and technical assistance, UServeUtah serves as the state's central coordinating body for service and volunteerism, and is responsible for developing, implementing, and sustaining a vision and culture of civic engagement and national and community service within the state. Some of UServeUtah's other programming responsibilities include volunteer management training, disaster service leadership, the Lt. Governor's Volunteer Recognition Awards, and the state's volunteer connecting website.

AmeriCorps State

Utah Playworks AmeriCorps has 13 AmeriCorps members who serve at 12 low-income, high-need elementary schools in Salt Lake County. AmeriCorps members use the power of safe, fun, and healthy play at school and create a place for every child on the playground to be included and active, and build social and emotional skills. Last year, Playworks AmeriCorps members helped more than 5,000 students have a richer learning experience; 70 percent of these children became more academically engaged. The students had an increased sense of belonging among their peers and a better connection with adults. Teachers in these schools report that students gained an average of 21 hours of instruction time over the course of the year as a result of fewer behavioral disruptions. That is a $55,962 return on investment per school. Playworks AmeriCorps members are making an impact in Utah by stopping chaos at recess, helping children shift behaviors, and creating an environment in which every child can thrive, in the classroom and out.

The Utah Conservation Corps is a statewide AmeriCorps program that partners with federal, state, local, and nonprofit agencies to protect, restore, and enhance our environment. Its 175 AmeriCorps members, and the more than 5,000 community volunteers they recruited last year, complete environmental stewardship projects throughout the state. Last year alone, AmeriCorps members improved more than 150 miles of trails and rivers and nearly 4,300 acres of parks and public land. The members taught more than 50,000 students about energy efficiency and environmentally-conscious behavior. Studies show that the AmeriCorps members gain the skills to be engaged and knowledgeable conservation leaders of tomorrow while they cost-effectively address critical unmet environmental stewardship needs today.

AmeriCorps National

The American Conservation Experience, operating out of St. George, enrolled 49 AmeriCorps members who served on environmental conservation projects in 2015. AmeriCorps members built and maintained trails, improved waterways, and removed invasive species. Over the course of the past year, members surveyed and maintained 58.4 miles of waterway, improved or restored 103 acres of land, and built or maintained 131 miles of trail.

Youth Volunteer Corps has two AmeriCorps members who serve Cedar City and Ogden. Last year in Cedar City, the program engaged 47 youth, including 24 disadvantaged youth, in 3,590 hours of service. The youth volunteers participated in 160 projects for 51 local agencies, including Canyon Creek Women's Center, Bread of Life Soup Kitchen, and Cedar City Community Garden. The program launched in Ogden in July 2015 with similar goals to engage youth in service.

AmeriCorps VISTA

Maliheh Free Clinic AmeriCorps VISTA member Jeff Collins successfully applied for and received malpractice coverage for the free clinic through the Federal Torts Claims Act. This will provide savings of well over $100,000 per year as the clinic does not have to purchase malpractice insurance for more than 50 volunteer medical providers. Jeff developed a quality assurance plan and a system for credentialing and privileging volunteers to meet the requirements to apply for malpractice coverage for the clinic's volunteer medical providers. Once established, Jeff transferred responsibility for the quality assurance plan and the credentialing program to the clinic's Medical Advisory Committee and staff members. Obtaining free coverage has been a long time goal of the clinic since the high cost of malpractice insurance is unaffordable for nonprofit clinics and lack of malpractice coverage is the chief barrier to recruiting volunteer medical providers. AmeriCorps VISTA member Pati Comes helped bring in more than $100,000 in new revenue in 2015. This has allowed the clinic to see hundreds of new patients and they no longer have a waiting list. In 2014, the clinic had a four month waiting list for new patients.

Two AmeriCorps VISTA members serving at People Helping People as fundraising coordinators helped generate a substantial amount of resources during their year of service to expand the reach of the organization into new areas of the state of Utah. People Helping People is a nonprofit that serves women and children living in areas throughout the Wasatch Front. By offering job training and development programs, the organization helps women and their families move out of poverty. The AmeriCorps VISTA members created a tracking system for grant writing research and submissions. They also wrote more than 60 letters of intent and submitted more than 70 grant proposals to grow the program to serve more individuals. The members raised more than $550,000 in grant funds and $12,000 in in-kind donations during their year of service.

AmeriCorps NCCC

The Road Home is a private nonprofit social service agency that assists individuals and families experiencing homelessness in Salt Lake County and along the Wasatch Front. Their mission is to help people step out of homelessness and back into the community. According to Utah's Homeless Point-In-Time Count, an estimated 13,621 people in Utah experienced homelessness in 2014. Increasingly, the people experiencing homelessness are families with children. An AmeriCorps NCCC team was requested to join in The Road Home's poverty alleviation efforts. Over the course of their round, the team checked guests into their rooms each night and sorted through 2,310 pounds of food items and 7,322 pounds of clothing items that had been donated to the shelter's warehouse. The team also conducted 150 surveys with residents of the shelter, which were geared towards helping the city improve and expand future services. All of these actions aimed to have residents return to the shelter on a nightly basis and utilize the services that the shelter provided. This, in turn, aids in Salt Lake City's mission to help the homeless find homes and return to the workforce and their communities.

Habitat for Humanity of Summit & Wasatch Counties provides housing and comprehensive financial and life-skill education to low-income families in Utah. Founded in 1995, the organization seeks to build, renovate, and preserve homes for working families in need through partnership with volunteers in its communities. During the spring of 2015, the service of an AmeriCorps NCCC team was requested to support building efforts, supply warehouse services, and conduct community outreach. The team served in the Habitat for Humanity ReStore for one week of their round, helping customers, painting the ReStore wall, and planting flowers in eight planters that AmeriCorps NCCC members placed outside of the ReStore. The team also removed dead wood from a total of 5.6 acres of two homeowners' properties to help prevent the spread of any future fires, and restored hiking trail behind one of the properties. As a result of the service that AmeriCorps NCCC members performed, the community of Park City has become more aware of Habitat for Humanity, the organization's goals, and of energy-saving programs for Summit and Wasatch counties.

Senior Corps Foster Grandparent Program

Foster Grandparent Programs across the state of Utah are focused on helping at-risk students achieve academic success. Test scores consistently show an achievement gap between students who are low-income, minorities, and other students. According to DIBELS (Dynamic Indicators of Basic Early Literacy Skills) research, 80 percent of children who reach benchmark will remain on benchmark for the remainder of their schooling. The Foster Grandparent Program of Northern Utah pioneered working with local school districts to track DIBELS test scores for students tutored by Foster Grandparents. They did so by working hand in hand with seven school districts to implement a method to track the pre- and post- DIBELS scores of each child tutored by a Foster Grandparent. The superintendents of the three largest school districts select district administrators to serve on the advisory council. These individuals have been key in formulating the data collection process. In 2015, 89 percent, or 1,073 children tutored showed improvement in their academic scores by the end of the year and 40 percent of the students who received this one-on-one tutoring reached benchmark.

Senior Corps RSVP

Ninety RSVP volunteers with Salt Lake County Aging and Adult Services serve with the Meals on Wheels program. In 2014 these volunteers delivered more than 11,000 meals to 200 seniors, providing the frail and homebound elderly with nutrition and socialization. For many, the RSVP volunteer is the only person that the homebound senior sees on a daily basis, increasing their independence and sense of social connectedness. Some of the Salt Lake County RSVP volunteers are also meal delivery team leaders. In addition to delivering meals they recruit, schedule and provide training for other volunteers on their delivery team. RSVP volunteers also serve as backup volunteers. To ensure that all meal recipients get their meal every day there is a great need for reliable backup volunteers. There is a team of RSVP backup volunteers that are fast responders and willing to deliver, even when called at the last minute. The Salt Lake County Meals on Wheels Program does not currently have a waiting list and are able to serve people in need. This is in part due to the dedication and efforts of the RSVP volunteers that play a variety of volunteer roles to support the Meals on Wheels program.

Senior Corps Senior Companion Program

Jeannette, a former Senior Companion with the Weber Human Services program, now benefits from having a Senior Companion herself. With the assistance of her Senior Companion, Jeannette is able to volunteer to deliver meals with Meals on Wheels. Jeannette ended her service as a Senior Companion due to progression of her Alzheimer's disease. She missed being in the community and the ability to serve others. With the opportunity to volunteer with Meals on Wheels with her Senior Companion she said, "This has given me my life back. I feel like I'm contributing to the community again." There is a growing trend in Utah that former Senior Companions who are no longer able to serve now receive the benefits of being visited by a Senior Companion. Former Senior Companions with Salt Lake County Aging and Adult Services, Weber Human Services, and others have been able to benefit as a Senior Companion client after years of service.

Social Innovation Fund

The Social Innovation Fund (SIF) transforms lives by using evidence to find what works and make it work for more people. The SIF Classic and SIF Pay for Success programs harness the expertise of grant-making intermediaries to identify, evaluate and expand effective nonprofits serving low-income communities across America. SIF programs throughout the state focus on areas such as affordable and healthy housing, as well as recidivism reduction and more. The Social Innovation Fund is investing $497,000 in expanding the impact of seven nonprofits in Utah.

Volunteer Generation Fund

UServeUtah uses Volunteer Generation Fund grant support to establish a strong infrastructure to support volunteers in Utah and functions as a consultant and training resource to build and cultivate organizational capacity and increase volunteer utilization. UServeUtah also actively promotes volunteerism and is committed to creating ways for Utahn's to identify and engage in quality volunteer and service opportunities. A primary aim is to help organizations successfully use service and volunteerism as a strategy to fulfill their mission as well as increasing the number of highly skilled and long-term volunteers serving in Utah. UServeUtah accomplishes this by providing statewide trainings that ensure organizations are prepared to use volunteers effectively; supporting businesses in creating employee volunteer programs throughout the state; and helping local municipalities recognize and use volunteers as an effective means of addressing community needs. In 2015, more than 200 organizations received training related to volunteer management with 95 percent of them reporting that this training helped expand and improve capacity within their organization to use volunteers to address critical needs.

Intermediary Grantmakers in Utah

Location	Intermediary Name Nonprofit Subgrantees	Description
Salt Lake City, UT	University of Utah (2016) ADP	Sorenson Impact Center's mission is to develop innovative and data-driven solutions to difficult social problems. The Center's proposed approach (Project) is to assist approximately four PFS projects per year on a rolling basis with the expectation that each engagement will result in actionable solutions within a 12-month time frame; as projects conclude, the Center will select new engagements from either a waitlist or new competition, based on an approved sub-selection plan made in consultation with the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS). The primary focus of this Project is to remove both the legal and technical barriers to data access by crafting thorough sharing agreements and by utilizing reliable low- and no-cost (open-source) software tools. The Center will add capacity to its existing data science team in order to accelerate the construction and launch of PFS projects around the country. The Center's Service Recipients will receive a full data diagnosis and technical assistance to develop the requisite data access agreements, software tools for cleaning and merging data, legal and regulatory analyses to provide guidance on data privacy questions, and thorough statistical analyses geared toward facilitating high-quality PFS projects. Through this approach, the Center will create a central repository of information-an additional pillar to its existing Knowledge Portal which will include, for example: legal templates for data access and data sharing agreements, as well as the frameworks that address commonly-cited regulatory factors under FERPA, HIPAA, 42 CFR Part 2, and other relevant data privacy regimes; open-source computer code to clean, merge, and extract identified high-value data; technical training on best practices, such as step-by-step tutorials on how to perform data matching, or webinars on topics like data privacy; and discrete analytical tools that could be repurposed and utilized by other PFS project stakeholders - some for more advanced users who would feel comfortable with basic statistics and computer code, and some with a simple graphical user interface for all potential users.
Salt Lake City, UT	University of Utah (2016) PFS	The Partnership between Sorenson Impact Center at the University of Utah and Social Finance, Inc. brings together the best attributes of two social impact and innovation industry leaders. The Partnership will provide Transaction Structuring technical assistance to between 4-5 Service Recipients, resulting in the launch of new Pay for Success projects in the Western United States. Alliance House delivers the "Clubhouse International Model," – an innovative psychosocial program that takes place in a setting that is neither institution nor treatment center, and seeks to support adults with SPMI in rebuilding their self-respect, dignity, and abilities through education, productive work, and meaningful relationships. With over 300 Clubhouses around the world, the Clubhouse International model has proven to measurably and meaningfully improve lives by providing cost effective opportunities for employment and improved well-being, decreasing hospitalizations and reducing incarcerations; leading to the model's inclusion in the US National Registry of Evidence-Based Programs and Practices. Currently, Alliance House serves 330 individuals annually, with 25% of those individuals at-risk for or experiencing homelessness.
Salt Lake City, UT	First Step House University of Utah Sorenson Impact Center	First Step House's intervention model is grounded in research about what works to reduce recidivism. The program name is REACH, which stands for Recovery, Engagement, Assessment, Career Development, and Housing. Recovery means recovery from criminogenic patterns and a substance use disorder. The REACH program is built upon the framework of risk-need-responsivity (RNR) principles. The central tenants of RNR are: (1) High intensity treatment is best suited for offenders at high risk for reoffending. (2) It is best not to mix high risk and low risk populations. (3) Treatment should target dynamic criminogenic needs that are associated with recidivism. (4) Responsivity refers to matching treatment according to the individual's ability and learning style. FSH's program builds upon this framework by addressing the major criminogenic factors that have the greatest impact on reducing recidivism, including antisocial behaviors, antisocial personality/negative emotionality, antisocial attitudes, antisocial cognitions, and substance abuse.
Salt Lake City, UT	State of Utah Governor's Office of Management and Budget University of Utah Sorenson Impact Center	The State of Utah Governor's Office of Planning and Budget is developing a feasibility study to use a Pay for Success approach to address recidivism by targeting offenders with co-occurring substance abuse and mental illness. The State of Utah has made a large investment in criminal justice system reforms, including partnering with the Pew Charitable Trust and U.S. Department of Justice as part of Justice Reinvestment Initiative. The proposed program is innovative because it recognizes that a mental health and substance abuse intervention for those with a co-occurring diagnosis dramatically reduces the risk to re-offend.

Salt Lake City, UT	The Road Home University of Utah Sorenson Impact Center	The Road Home's proposed project aims to end homelessness for 315 formerly homeless adults who fall in the category of "persistently homeless." The Road Home will use barrier removal and time limited rental assistance supplemented by a flexible selection of services that includes targeted case management, benefit eligibility and enrollment, behavioral health needs assessments and referrals for treatment, employment support, and connections to primary health care, elderly services, and more. The Road Home will build on existing housing programs such as rapid re-housing with Progressive Engagement and develop new programs including roommate housing and single room occupancy. The Road Home looks to integrate data collection methods to better understand how these programs reduce their clients' interactions with the criminal justice system and reduce the rate of recidivism.
